Bob,

I am updating our projection of the CES Environmental Services PRP allocation. At this time we anticipate that the review will continue until June 2016.

Please contact me if you have any questions.

Regards,
Lynne Morgan

Bob,

I am following up from my email below. We have had 4 members of our review team leave the project and with the reduction in staff we anticipate that the review will extend at least until the end of April.

Regards,
Lynne Morgan

Bob,

I wanted to give you an update on the document review and allocation determination for the CES Environmental Services site in Houston, Texas. The document review is taking longer than we anticipated due to several issues associated with the electronic review such as networking issues, software issues and employee transitions within the contracted review team.

To date we have reviewed approximately one third of the documents that the EPA supplied on the flash drive, a good portion of which are not responsive to determining a PRP allocation. The next phase of the review process will be more intensive and should continue until the end of March 2016.

During the review, we have discovered documents indicating that Matt Bowman and Joy Baker may have attempted to start up Bluebonnet Petrochemical at the CES Services Site. We are trying to determine whether any material was sent to the site under this name. Does EPA have any information on this entity?

Regards,
Lynne Morgan

Lynne,

I agree, end of the year is a more reasonable.

Bob,

I wanted to make a revision to our projection regarding sharing information on the allocation. Given the number of pages, the end of the year is a more reasonable amount of time needed to review the documents.

Robert,

I have copied the contents of the flash drive and will put this in the mail to you tomorrow. Thank you very much for sharing this with us.

The review of the documents will take approximately a month or so. We will send you more information regarding the allocation when it becomes available.
